

ABSTRACT

A system for a reduced moiré display has a lenticular screen, a projector, and means for disturbing at least a portion of the projector to cause displacement of the projection of pixels on the screen to reduce moiré. A method for reducing moiré projects a plurality of pixels onto a lenticular screen and disturbs the projector to cause displacement of the projection of pixels to reduce moiré.